

Payne Institute Fall Seminar Series

John Putnam, CDPHE, and Jeff Robbins, COGCC

Regulations, Policy, and the Energy Transition 12:30-3:15pm | September 19, 2019 | Alderson Hall, 230

John Putnam serves as the director of environmental programs for Colorado Public Health and Environment. Prior to joining the department in 2019, he practiced as an environmental and transportation attorney for 25 years. He represented states, municipalities and private entities in Colorado and nationwide on a range of environmental issues under the Clean Air Act, National Environmental Policy Act, Clean Water Act and other laws.

Jeff Robbins is the Director of the Colorado Oil and Gas Conservation Commission. Robbins was appointed acting director in mid January 2019 and has practiced law in Colorado since 1996 for a private firm and as county attorney for La Plata and Archuleta counties. He also represented Adams and Boulder counties and the cities of Aurora, Dacono, Lafayette and Timnath on oil and gas cases.